

What is wrong with the new sex education curriculum?

- Presents sexual variations and behaviors, including homosexuality, as morally equivalent and acceptable
- Encourages adolescents to explore their sexual preferences and identity; homosexual, lesbian, bisexual
- Advocates sexual experimentation by stating: “Fact: Sex play with friends of the same gender is not uncommon during early adolescence...”
- It excludes all references to documented medical risks of homosexual behavior
- It omits scientific evidence that no one is born gay
- It discriminates against certain religious beliefs by including in its recommended resources only those religious viewpoints that approve of homosexual behavior
- It redefines family in a way that disregards the moral values of many Montgomery County parents and citizens
- It lacks a strong and unequivocal abstinence message
